Yolanda, Thanks for your quick rewrite. I spoke with Wayne and then did this edit based on our discussion. See what you think. I removed the precise January deadline, and replaced it with "as soon as possible", as they're the ones pushing the need to head into the field, so should want to reply fast. Can put a date back in if you think it makes sense.

I just accepted all edits and worked on this clean version, as the marked up version was getting too crazy.

Wayne is off unless we really need to reach him, but I will check messages throughout the day tomorrow so we can reconnect and work further on this before we send to Enrique.

Thanks, John

Here is a shorter letter that is more focused on: showing our commitment to move forward; calling out two unsubstantiated claims; and putting a time pressure to respond on the Navy. I suggest reading in simple mark-up.
